

Please visit our website at www.ialsnet.org to obtain further information about the International Association of Law Schools. Article 3 of the Charter describes the details of our membership, which can be found on our website <http://www.ialsnet.org/wordpress/charter-bylaws/>

Benefits of Membership

The International Association of Law Schools (IALS) was incorporated in October 2005; its voting members will include educational institutions offering degrees in law. The benefits of membership are:

- Access to Delegate Papers, minutes, reports from Previous Conferences and Meetings on our website.
- Access to IALS membership to Groupsite – social network site.
- Financial assistance and travel accommodations to our meetings, workshops on a need basis and/or merit.
- Free postings on our Job Board on our website.
- Invitation to attend our Annual Meetings, Global Law Deans' Forum, and Regional Law Deans' Forum.
- Opportunity to collaborate with other schools and faculty.
- Participation in the development of curriculum and other guidelines to adapt legal education to the needs of diverse cultures and societies and be recognized as a school that subscribes to such guidelines.
- Receiving IALS Newsletters containing articles of interest, announcements of programs at other member schools, and notices of possible exchange agreements.

Benefits for your Faculty:

- Apply for the Visiting Professor Program.
- Being part of a network of law schools that cooperate in various types of faculty, student, and scholarly exchange.
- Invitation to join a Doctrinal Study Group in doctrinal faculty member's choice.
- Opportunity to engage in IALS' new programs, which offer travel and work stipends.
- Financial assistance to our events or reduced registration fee to attend our annual meeting.
- Opportunity for faculty to post drafts of, and completed, scholarly articles on the IALS website and seek comments from colleagues throughout the world.
- Opportunity for your faculty to participate in "by invitation only" international gatherings of leading legal educators on topics of scholarly or pedagogical interest.

Benefits for your Students:

- Build long life friendships with their counterparts.
- New Student Initiatives will be forming.
